

POLITICAL SCIENCE, B.A.

The Political Science Program is housed within the Department of History and Politics. Both a major and minor in Political Science are offered. Political science examines the origins, uses, justification, and distribution of power in society, as well as the relationship between power and other social "goods" such as wealth, rights, and liberties. Political science can be both descriptive and normative. When descriptive, it investigates how power, wealth and rights actually are distributed. When normative, political science explores how they ought to be distributed. Politics, in short, is about how societies are governed, how competing ideas about what is best for society are articulated and resolved, and how decisions in one part of the world affect other parts of the world. As part of a liberal arts education, the study of politics helps students develop critical thinking, research, analytical and communicative skills. It enables them to understand ideas and practices of citizenship, social justice, and human values. Political science prepares students for graduate studies as well as for a wide range of careers, including those in teaching, law, government, public service, public policy and administration, foreign and military service, business, international organizations, NGOs and the nonprofit sector, interest-group advocacy, and journalism.

Contact Information

historypolitics@css.edu

Learning Outcomes

Students completing a baccalaureate degree in political science should be able to:

1. Demonstrate specialized knowledge of political science, both across the discipline and in each of the four subfields.
2. Critically evaluate public policy issues, political power, and law through both disciplinary theoretical analysis and empirical research.
3. Critically evaluate political and public policy issues in terms of their bearing on foundational values such as human dignity, human rights, peace, and justice.
4. Critically assess public policies from community-based perspectives.
5. Actively participate in their civic communities (locally, nationally, and/or globally) to work on behalf of human values, justice, and the fuller realization of human potential.

Requirements

Students must achieve the following program requirements for all courses listed under "Program Required Courses" for the Political Science major.

Program Requirements

Major Credits: 40

Major Residency Credits: 20

Minimum GPA: 2.0

Minimum Grade: C

Political Science majors have the option of declaring a concentration in one of four areas: American Politics, International Politics,* Comparative Politics,* or Political Theory.

Program Required Courses

Code	Title	Credits
Core Courses
PHL 2223	Political Philosophy	4
POL/GCL 2001	Introduction to Political Science	4
POL 3777	Topics (Introduction to International Politics/ Relations)	4
POL 3777	Topics (Introduction to Comparative Politics)	4
POL 4999	Independent Study (Capstone)	4
PSY 3331	Statistics	4
or FIN 3500	Real Estate Finance
or MTH 2442	Introduction to Data Analysis and Applied Statistics
Sixteen(16) elective credits from one concentration listed below.
American Politics		16
CTA 2777	Topics in Communication (Political Communication)
CTA 4417	Mass Media Law and Ethics
GCL 2480	Community Nonprofits
NAS 2610	Indigenous Peoples of North America
POL 3331	American Government
SWK 3350	Understanding Systems of Privilege and Oppression
SWK 3360	American Social Welfare Policy
*Comparative Politics		16
ASL 2305	Deaf Culture in the World
GCL 2050	Introduction to Mexico
GCL 3200	Popular Music and Political Movements
GCL 3303	The Other Americas
GCL 3305	Contemporary Africa
HIS 3301	Russia Since 1900
HIS 3355	Islam and the Modern World
POL/GCL 4402	Environmental Politics
*International Politics		16
GCL 2111	Migration, Diaspora, Identity
GCL 2201	Peaceful Resolution of International Conflicts
GCL 3301	Human Rights
GCL 3302	Europe Today
HIS 3214	The World Since 1945
HIS 3310	United States Foreign Relations
HIS 3350	Feminism and Globalization: Women, Religion, and the Body
POL 2280	Rethinking Religion and Culture after 9/11
POL 3001	Politics of Globalization
POL 4402	Environmental Politics
SWK 3390	Understanding Immigration/Refugee Issues in Social Work Practice
Political Theory		16
GCL 3101	Advanced Social and Cultural Theory
PHL 2214	Introductory Ethics
PHL 3350	Contemporary Ethical Issues
PHL 3360	Philosophies of Feminism

TRS 2501 Theologies of Peace and Justice

TRS 3320 Religion and Politics of Compassion

*Concentrations in International Politics or Comparative Politics complete one year of language study at the intermediate level (8 credits beyond the College's world language requirement). Concentrations in American Politics and Political Theory, or Political Science majors who do not declare a concentration, are not required to study a language and culture at the intermediate level, but they are strongly encouraged to do so.

Of the 40 credits required for the major, 20 must be upper division (3000-4999).

Degree Requirements

To graduate from the College of St. Scholastica, baccalaureate students must meet the following minimum degree requirements.

Total Credits: 128

Upper Division Credits: 42

Residency Requirement: 32

Minimum GPA: 2.0